Top of Head Blown Away
by Blast; Coroner Gives Verdict

Edwin Moose, 28, of Blue Mountain, town of Saugerties, who was to have been wed on Saturday evening, was accidentally killed by a shotgun charge which he had gone to an attic to procure to loan to a friend for use at a skimmington. Whether the gun was being borrowed for use at a skimmington to follow Moose's wedding was not ascertained.

An investigation into the death made by Sergeant James Cunningham, Trooper Walter Keefe and Trooper John Metzger of the C. I. after they had been summoned by Coroner Norvin R. Lasher of Saugerties, disclosed that the death had been accidental. This morning Coroner Lasher stated that after a very extensive investigation into the matter he had rendered a verdict of accidental shooting.

Version of Accident
From the story told the coroner and officers after their arrival it appears that Moose, employed as a truck driver for the town of Saugerties, had gone to the attic of his mother's home to procure a double barreled shotgun to loan to a friend who said he wanted to use it at a skimmington. This was about 8 o'clock last evening.

After procuring the gun Moose started back downstairs. In order to reach the lower floor he had to pass through a low portion of the attic to get to the stairs. As he went over to pass through this low section near the head of the stairs, Coroner Lasher said, the gun apparently was fired. The charge struck Moose in the head and death was instantaneous. Miss Helen Schoonmaker of Blue Mountain on Saturday night.

The top of his head was blown off by the charge of the gun. His mother, Mrs. Hannah Moose, and an aunt, Mrs. Anna Schoonmaker, were seated on the front porch at the time. When the shot was fired they rushed in and found Mr. Moose lying at the head of the stairs with the gun lying on top of his body.

Dr. B. W. Gifford was called and in his arrival pronounced the man dead. Coroner Norvin R. Lasher was summoned and he also notified the troopers.

Beside his mother the young man is survived by one brother, Henry Moose, of Saugerties; three sisters, Mrs. Harry Freleigh of Saugerties, Mrs. White of Quarryville and Mrs. Whitney of Saugerties. Funeral services will be held from the late home at Blue Mountain Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Burial in the Mountain Cemetery.

'Special Tasks'
Berlin, July 28 (AP)—Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, opening Germany's 15th radio and television show today, charged the Reich's broadcasting with "special tasks" because of "the gravity of the period through which we are passing." "German broadcasting has the special function of telling the whole world via the ether about German national socialism," he said.

Result of Drouth at Kerhonkson's Reservoir

Drying swamp is all that remains of this Ulster county community's main water supply. Heavy showers yesterday and last night failed to do much to the reservoir and today it was reported that village officials still are pumping water from the Rondout creek into the mains.

Heavy Rains Put Temporary Check To County Drouth

Showers Extinguish Forest Fires; Reservoirs Get
Very Little Supply
From Rainfall

Heavy showers in some sections of the county Thursday afternoon and throughout the night followed by a gentle rain which was general throughout this area at least temporarily put an end to the severe drouth and supplied some moisture—with a temporary supply of water. Forest fires which have raged through the Shawangunk mountains for the past 10 days were extinguished and smaller blazes in various areas were rained out.

From all sections of the county today came reports that while the rainfall had not been of sufficient extent to give any extended relief from the damage caused by the weeks of rainless weather, it was of temporary benefit to small crops. At Albany 2.75 inches of rain fell but even this was not considered sufficient to give permanent results.

10 Hours Needed
The State Agriculture Department said yesterday that a 10-hour rainfall is needed to give full relief to those sections of the state which were hardest hit by the drouth.

Fire-fighters who have been casting an anxious eye to the sky for the last several days were today enjoying their first rest since serious fires were discovered over a week ago on the Shawangunk mountains. This relief, however, is only temporary unless more rain comes for the forests are extremely dry.

Much of the equipment which had been sent into this area to fight the fires on Shawangunk mountains was sent back to home stations last night after a shower had wet down the woods and fires had been brought under control earlier in the day.

At Kerhonkson, where the water shortage situation has been serious, a heavy shower gave relief Thursday afternoon. Again during the night there was a second shower and this morning a third shower visited the area and rain was still falling at 10 o'clock.

The showers gave relief from the drouth but it was not expected that the rainfall would be of sufficient amount to make any important difference.

With a splutter of sparks from molten metal, the first mold will be filled soon for the only large-scale sculpture ever cast in stainless steel—a monumental plaque for the facade of the Associated Press Building in Rockefeller Center.

Isamu Noguchi, Los Angeles-born Japanese-American artist, recently completed a full-size plaster model of the plaque. It was sawed into seven sections and taken from New York to a Boston foundry.

City Gets Tenth-Inch Of Fall From Shower

One-tenth of an inch of rain fell in Kingston on Thursday, according to the rain gauge on the roof of the city hall, making a total rainfall of .19 of an inch since the first of the month. This does not take into account the rain that fell today.

In the Kingston water shed it was reported that there was just a trace of rain yesterday, while this morning .6 of an inch of water had fallen. Cooper's Lake is slightly below seven feet from the normal line.

This morning a heavy down-pour broke over Kingston about 3:45 o'clock, but it only contained falling for about five minutes. It was followed later by drizzles of rain.

Eddyville Bridge Scaffold Wrecked

Activities Directed Against Firm Painting Bridge
in This Locality

At 2:30 o'clock this morning activities directed against the contracting firm engaged in painting state bridges in this locality resulted in the wrecking of scaffolds being used on the Eddyville bridge which crosses the Rondout creek.

At the scene it was stated that the scaffolds were cut loose from the bridge and thrown into the creek by men who had come by automobile and who disappeared after the act. No one saw the men and State Police who were summoned this morning to make an investigation have no idea as to who the individuals were.

The large scaffolds, constructed of timber and metal, are rolled along on iron rollers as the work progresses and are estimated to be worth approximately $75 each.

Hears Scaffold Fall
Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning Richard Metal, who had done some work of the firm, according to State Trooper Arthur Reilly, who made an investigation, heard the scaffolding fall into the creek with a crash and on investigating, found the ropes attached to the scaffolds had been cut and the structure toppled into the water. He secured it to ropes and tied it.

president of General Alloys Company, which will cast the design. Explaining why stainless steel was selected for the sculpture, Harris added proudly, "the only metal known to man—besides gold and platinum—which does not foul its own face is stainless. Other metals have excretions of oxidation."

In the national competition for the design of the Associated Press plaque, Noguchi submitted two models, one on which he worked two months, another on which he spent three days. The latter model won first prize of $1,000, and he was commissioned by the Associated Press and Rockefeller Center, Inc., to execute it.

President Asks 4 Groups to Prepare To Aid Easterners

New England Faces Longer
Dry Spell; Fall Said to Be Insufficient
in Other Sections

New York, July 28 (AP)—Parched New England, only partially aided by scattered rainfall, faced the prospect of continued dryness today as other sections of the eastern drouth belt were refreshed by showers and thunderstorms.

With the exception of Pennsylvania—where the first heavy rains in 27 days drenched many sections—observers made clear the fall was insufficient, however.

In New York, many sections of which greeted thunderstorms yesterday, agriculturists said "at least two days of steady rain" were needed to save crops, while in New Jersey, where light showers gave promise yesterday, three inches of rain were deemed a necessity. In both states, the forecast today was showers.

Much of New England remained tinder-dry and no general precipitation was predicted. An inch of rain fell yesterday at Burlington, Vt., and for several hours it rained at Springfield, Mass.

In Connecticut alone, crop losses were estimated "in the millions" and similar losses were added in other contiguous states.

High humidity added to the extreme discomfort. President Roosevelt asked four federal agencies to stand by to aid the New England states in what was termed the worst drouth in 100 years.

While eastern New York enjoyed its first rainfall for many days, the western half of the state still waited hopefully.

Forest fires throughout the eastern states were reported either extinguished or under control.

19 Possible Toll Of Those Injured

Derailment of Santa Fe
Special Near Canyon

Williams, Ariz., July 28 (AP)—The number injured by derailment of a Santa Fe special train six miles south of the Grand Canyon last night may run as high as 19, a railway telegrapher said. The train carried 190 passengers.

From Winslow, the Santa Fe dispatcher reported this morning it would be "an hour or two" before he would know definitely the number injured or the nature of the injuries.

Physicians at Grand Canyon were too busy treating to give out names of their patients.

First reports of the accident said only nine were hurt, seven passengers and two trainmen, none seriously.

The conductor was hurled 20 feet to the end of one derailed car.

Philip S. Levy Is Released on $1,000 Bail on Policy
Charge

Newburgh, N. Y., July 28 (AP)—Several Newburgh business leaders face trial on indictments returned in an investigation of alleged vice and corruption in the city and Orange county.

Arraigned yesterday, several hours after a special grand jury handed up sealed indictments against 47 persons to Presiding Justice Ely W. Personius, 32 persons pleaded innocent while only one entered a plea of guilty.

John Coyle, president of the Newburgh Food Merchants' Association, and Oscar G. Massie, a Newburgh grocer, pleaded innocent to charges of conspiring to bribe a public officer. Each went free on $1,000 bail.

Accused of Conspiring

Coyle and Massie were accused of conspiring with others to pay John L. Sloan, superintendent of the combined Newburgh city and town welfare district, five percent of the welfare orders brought monthly to each merchant in the group.

Sloan, one of six indicted last April, was released in $2,500 bail after pleading innocent to a charge of obtaining proceeds from a fraudulent relief food order audit.

Philip S. Levy, commander of the Newburgh American Legion Post, also was released in $1,000 bail yesterday. He pleaded innocent to an indictment charging him with ownership of a building in which policy slips were sold.

Others arraigned were charged with operation of horse betting rooms, sale of policy slips and with conducting dice and card games. Jesse Cunningham, 42, of Newburgh, pleaded guilty to charges of selling policy slips and faces sentencing today.

The grand jury's report brought to 55 the number of indictments found since it convened February 6 at the request of Governor Lehman. The governor ordered the inquiry after a federal grand jury indicted 45 persons for alleged illicit operations.

In its report, the federal body charged widespread vice and corruption in both city and county.

Roosevelt Favors Hatch Objectives

Chief Executive Declares
in Favor of Measure

Washington, July 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt declared himself today to be absolutely in favor of the objectives of the Hatch bill to prohibit "pernicious" political activities.

He added at a press conference, however, that there was a real problem involved in the measure, which is at the White House awaiting presidential action. That problem, the President said, is: What can people legitimately do under very, very broad language?

He said that, for instance, it might be interpreted to forbid a person to attend a political rally or voluntarily contribute to the campaign expenses of a friend.

Will Study Evidence
Mr. Roosevelt said he would take with him on a week-end fishing cruise a lot of documentary evidence on the bill.

He has not had a report on it yet from Attorney General Murphy, he said.

Asked what phases of the legislation he had talked over yesterday with Senator Hatch (D-N.M.), author of the bill, the President replied that they had considered a great many phases.

He described as most interesting the language on what a government employee can do and can't do and said the language was very vague.

There is a problem, too, he said, of who would enforce the bill and another problem of what would be done with state and other government employees who are not federal workers.

When a reporter remarked that his statement appeared to be somewhat discouraging toward the bill, Mr. Roosevelt said he would not put it that way.

The measure, he emphasized, was merely in the study stage.

To a query about whether he might return the bill to Congress for clarification, the Chief Executive asserted that his study had not yet progressed to that point.

Hatch said today that "my job won't be completed" until similar restrictions are applied to state employees who receive all or part of their salaries from the federal government.

Possibility of New Pact With Tokyo Diminishes Amid New Developments

Tokyo Suggests Abrogation

Organ of Army Would Renounce Nine-Power
Treaty as Sharp Resentment Arises Over
Action of U. S.—Should Be Prepared

Tokyo, July 28 (AP)—Abrogation of the nine-power treaty "without further ado" was suggested today by the newspaper Kokumin, considered the organ of the army and ultra-nationalistic elements, in an angry editorial on United States denunciation of the Japanese trade treaty.

"Such a reckless act of hostility toward Japan by the United States has aroused sharp resentment," said Kokumin.

"Opinion is rising in favor of abrogation of the nine-power treaty without further ado. In that case the United States should be prepared to face a situation wherein her rights and interests in China can no longer be tenable."

Signed in Washington February 6, 1922, by the United States, China, Japan, Britain and five other powers, the nine-power treaty pledges its signatories to respect China's integrity and to "promote intercourse between China and the other powers upon the basis of equality of opportunity."

Reliable sources said Japan would refuse to take the initiative in drafting a new treaty to supplant the 1911 pact abruptly denounced by Washington.

The government, it was stated, would await American action passively during the six months' notification period before expiration of the pact January 26. During that time officials hope the military situation in China may be improved sufficiently to permit realization of some restrictions on American business in the Orient and consequent improvement of relations.

The foreign office declared in a statement that "if the American government desires to conclude a new treaty in conformity with the new situation in East Asia,

He rallied, even resuming his visits to his office and went on short automobile trips but by July he had begun to "decline," in the words of attending physicians.

Washington, July 28 (AP)—Navy men expect Admiral Thomas C. Hart, new Asiatic fleet commander, to be able to say "no" to the Japanese as firmly but possibly less diplomatically than his predecessor.

Senate Proposal Is Blocking Passage of Security Changes

Washington, July 28 (AP)—A Senate proposal to give an additional $80,000,000 a year to the needy aged is blocking the enactment of far-reaching changes in the social security law, because some legislators believe it would be the first step toward the Townsend pension program.

Amendments of the social security law have been approved by both the Senate and House, but a joint conference committee has been trying unsuccessfully for two weeks to adjust differences between the two measures.

Members said today the committee had made no progress on the most controversial proposal before it—an amendment by Senator Connally (D-Tex.) requiring the government to match state old age assistance outlays $2 to $1.

The two-to-one matching provision would be effective up to a maximum monthly payment of $10 from the government and $5 from the states to needy persons 65 and older.

Connally estimated his plan would cost the government an extra $80,000,000 a year. He said it would benefit every state equally, but particularly would aid poorer states which now can contribute only a few dollars on the existing 50-50 matching basis.

House members of the conference committee were reported to have insisted that they would prefer no social security revision to a bill carrying the Connally proposal. They contended that the latter would be a move toward adoption of the Townsend plan, which the House rejected earlier this session.

Pittman Construes Hull's Action as Serving Notice Nation Won't Retreat From Stand

Senate Problem

Upper House to Be Asked to Act on Bill to Ban War Shipments

Washington, July 28 (AP)—The possibility of a new commercial treaty between the United States and Japan to replace the 1911 pact terminated by Secretary Hull diminished today as administration officials moved to strengthen their firm stand against the Tokyo government.

There were these developments: Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.) of the Senate foreign relations committee interpreted Hull's action as a warning to the Japanese that the United States did not intend to retreat from its policy of maintaining American rights in the Orient.

Pittman served notice that the Senate would be asked to act on its resolution banning shipment of war supplies to Japan as soon as Congress meets in January.

The Treasury studied the possible application of countervailing duties against Japanese imports into this country on the ground that they were being subsidized. It also looked into United States purchases of Japanese gold and silver, from which Japan gets funds to buy materials here.

International Law
Hull's note giving the required six months notice to end the treaty January 26 will not prevent shipment of supplies to Japan unless Congress enacts such legislation. Officials explained that in cases where countries do not have commercial treaties in effect, ordinary business dealings are carried on under international law.

Hull and his Far Eastern advisers began what may prove a long scrutiny to determine whether termination of the treaty is to bring such a change in Japan's attitude toward China and foreign interests there that an embargo might not be necessary.

Some officials were heartened by the wide publication given by Japanese newspapers to the Hull note. They felt that the Japanese public had not been sufficiently aware of the feeling in the United States toward their invasion of China. Recently some Japanese officials have stated that America's sentiments were improving toward Japan.

Should Rest Conjecture
Senator Pittman said in an interview that he believed the treaty abrogation should set at rest any conjecture that the United States intended to follow the lead of Great Britain in the Far East.

That country recently agreed to recognize Japan's "special requirements" in China.

"It was even intimated in Congress that Great Britain was dictating the foreign policy of the United States in the Far East," Pittman said. "All of these insinuations were false and were categorically denied at one time or another by the state department."

"However, certain foreign governments have been led to believe that such insinuations were based in fact. It was necessary, therefore, for our government immediately to negative even a suspicion that the United States would follow the policy indicated by Great Britain."

Pittman said he did not expect negotiations for a new treaty to be undertaken for some time, indicating that Japanese actions in the next few months would have much to do with any future negotiations. Secretary Hull indicated much the same thing yesterday.

55 in Attendance At Boy Scout Camp

Camp Half Moon, July 28—The fourth week at the Boy Scout camp opened with 55 scouts in attendance. This is the largest number of boys thus far this season.

The scouts started work on scoutcraft early Monday morning in order to prepare themselves for advancement at the Court of Honor Saturday night, July 29. Fifty scouts have advanced during the season. A total of 220 Merit Badges will have been awarded at the close of the Grand Court of Honor.

The last week at camp is one full of interesting activities. Monday afternoon the scouts busied themselves with work and scoutcraft and an instructional and recreational game of Scout Treasure Hunt. Tuesday the scouts were held for their final tests. The scouts concluded a busy day with a general camp fire in the Council Ring. Nels Keables led songs, Coach Sylvester was valetted upon to offer a few songs on the saxophone while Prof. Mosher entertained the scouts with one of his stories.

Wednesday afternoon 20 scouts and four leaders left Camp Half Moon for the second seasonal overnight hike to the top of Blackhead Mountain. The lads were transported by Chief Burns, Prof. Mosher, Coach Sylvester and Nels Keables. The leaders had no difficulty this time in locating the trail at the foot of Blackhead Mountain having marked it well on the previous trip.

The scouts returned from Blackhead Thursday morning and experienced for the first time a free afternoon. Thursday night the scouts roasted marshmallows and sang songs at their division camp fire.

Those scouts, who are in Camp Half Moon now, are looking forward to the Grand Court of Honor which is open to the public on Saturday night. They are also anxious to meet the World's Fair group over the week-end.

Kiwanis Treated To Cool Program

Kiwanis Club was treated to a cooling and refreshing program at the noon luncheon Thursday at Governor Clinton Hotel. Announced as a substitute for a "cool program" which would go better in cooler weather, a program of entertainment was supplied by the management of Williams Lake, town of Rosendale summer resort.

Walter Williams, of the Lake, was presented and in turn introduced Harper Adams, who has been with Williams Lake for the past three years as recreational director, beachfront manager and general master of ceremonies.

Harper presented Roger Baer, conductor of the orchestra which plays at the lake. He gave several numbers on the piano and an encore impersonated a six year pupil of the piano, an eight year oldster and the more finished product, ending his demonstration with a number played in the true Baer style.

Next came John Nielson with his accordion which is featured at the lake. With Nielson was Jim Miller who was formerly a member of Major Bowe's Capital Theatre Family.

After the musical portion of the program had been completed, Walter Williams showed a reel of colored motion pictures, showing activities at Williams Lake. The picture included shots of the various attractions at the lake, shots taken during the Fourth of July celebration, during championship diving programs in which some of the country's best known divers took part. There were also pictures of canoe tilting, swimming and amusements on the beachfront, which included a ball game, canoe races and other sports.

An idea of the facilities offered at Williams Lake was shown in several shots at the bath house, which has accommodations for 1,500 people, the hotel and dining rooms, as well as the recreation grounds surrounding the resort. Guests were Ira N. Saxe of West Hurley, N. A. Wildner of Albany and the Williams Lake representatives.

ON THE EDGE

One of the most dependable services in Washington, giving information and advice to business men, said lately that it might be known in two weeks whether war would come to Europe this year. Other observers have spoken frankly of the imminent danger of war in August or early September.

It may not come, but the Old World is close to the edge. It all seems to hang now on the judgment of one man, a statesman of unstable and unpredictable mind.

"All that is certain," says a writer in the New York Times, "is that the shadow of war is many-fronted, and that every move becomes sensational because it has something to do with the war. These moves are multiplying. Every day the war machines, now fed by half the human energy and more than half the wealth of Europe, are turning faster. "Even yet, however, that does not signify that the fatal collision is inevitable. If logic ruled, it would be inevitable. But logic does not rule, and unreason is as likely to go off on one tangent as another. Too many question marks are suspended over frontiers. Events show the great powers openly preparing to meet attacks, but there is still no infallible sign that even Germany is prepared to open attack."

THESE "ISMS"

There is naturally a good deal of looseness in our use of language, but it does seem sometimes as if people should be a little more precise. Here, for instance, is a Canadian brother making a wholesome address on democracy, but getting himself badly tangled in his handling of the "isms."

He is all right as long as he sticks to Nazism and Communism, but he proceeds to generalize. "None of the isms," he announces, "recognize God, and we do not want them in Canada, for without God a country is lost."

How about Protestantism, Catholicism, Presbyterianism, Methodism, Unitarianism, Lutheranism, pacifism, and so on?

POLITICAL BROADCASTING

Canada, looking ahead to a general election campaign, has been putting its radio house in order with a view to all-round fairness. The following policies, approved by the government and all the political parties, are announced by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Between the dissolution of Parliament and election day there will be no radio time purchasable for political networks. Such broadcasting will be free in both federal and provincial campaigns, and the political radio time will be proportioned to the strength of the parties.

Time may be purchased for political speeches when there is no election campaign in progress.

Political broadcasts are forbidden for the two days preceding election, and political dramatizations, such as caused much controversy in the United States during the last presidential campaign, are forbidden.

The general aim is to put political partisan broadcasts on a more orderly and democratic basis, and to keep the quantity of political broadcasts within reasonable limits.

Our broadcasting rules in the United States may be expected to follow about the same lines.

MARKET CHEER

Stock Exchange news the other day was full of optimistic and joyful phrases. A few samples are—"Just like old times," "The good old days," "Stocks hold gains despite profits," "A country-wide rush to buy."

The rapid advance was checked by profit-taking later in the day, but average prices of stocks were up when the Exchange closed. This flurry was explained by some brokers as based on belief in improving business conditions at home and peaceable settlement of the Danzig question abroad.

The current steel operations rate was well above the point at which most mills can make profits. Aircraft orders were numerous. Even retail sales of new automobiles were 42 per cent above the same period in 1938. Early settlement of the General Motors strike was anticipated and contributed to the general cheerfulness. So did continuing reports of "better-than-expected" corporate earnings for the second quarter.

It is odd that, only ten years after 1929, it is the stock market rush that cheers us, rather than the business gains already in evidence.

The worst thing about these times is so many people "pressuring" so many other people. And then there are the fellows who insist on "positioning" and "insertion" and "concentration" things.

The safest thing might be to draw a boundary line north and south through the middle of the Pacific Ocean. But would the Japs stay west of that?

Some folks seem to feel lately, in spite of the popular jibes about Ford Knox, that the gold buried there may yet save democracy.

War may be hell, but peace isn't so hot in these days.

A clam doesn't say much, but has plenty of backbone.

Those darned Poles don't seem to understand appeasement at all.

Somehow it's sort of funny to find the Nazi press accusing Britain of "war propaganda."

THAT BODY OF YOURS

COLITIS DOES NOT KILL PATIENTS

For years the patient with colitis—slight inflammation and irritability of the large bowel—was considered to have diarrhoea due to certain foods he was eating. Accordingly, "soft" foods were prescribed together with an enema of oil or water daily or every other day.

Recently it has been learned that these patients are of the nervous and emotional type and, in addition to soft foods, they have been advised to try to acquire calmness of spirit by facing their problems bravely and analyzing and working out the problem instead of being worried, or afraid of it.

In some ways it is unfortunate that the name colitis and its cause—emotional disturbance—have been so freely discussed as the symptoms in some patients are not so severe and yet they are afraid that they will waste away and die because of the persistent diarrhoea.

Some very good advice for physicians, patients, and others is given by Walter C. Alvarez, Mayo Clinic, in Ohio State Medical Journal. Dr. Alvarez has done research work on the intestine for many years and has been able to show that while some healthy individuals have two and even three bowel movements daily, there are others who have bowel movements just two or three times a week and appear to be just as healthy. In regard to colitis or sensitive colon, Dr. Alvarez says:

"The more I see of patients with a sensitive colon colitis—the less I want to treat the bowel and the more I want to treat the patient. Do not tell the patient she has colitis unless the bowel is ulcerated and inflamed. We should tell these patients always have it, sitive colons that they will probably always have it, and it will never injure them nor kill them and it is up to them to learn to live with it and avoid the things that make it more irritable."

Dr. Alvarez suggests a "quieting" medicine before a dinner party to prevent the bloating and desire to go to stool.

I believe that once the patient realizes that colitis will not injure or kill her, she will lose her fear of it and losing the fear of colitis should go a long way in curing the ailment because more calmness of spirit will have been obtained.

From their defensive measures police have attempted to protect labor from women Jarawas. But the women, showing great aptitude for learning English, remained sullen and uncommunicative about their own tongue.

"COME ON, SWING IT!"

BABSON ON BUSINESS

RESTORING CONFIDENCE

Babson Says Outlawing "Pressure Groups" Will Help
Gloucester, Mass., July 28—Our decade-old business depression has, for the first time in 160 years, caused our standard of living to decline. At least, that is what Howard Cooley, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said a few nights ago. He insists that "only through restoration of confidence in the American system can this country resume progress."

In general, everyone agrees with Mr. Cooley. Naturally, we want confidence. We all know that when we are confident, things go along much better—we work harder, more people have jobs, and we spend money more freely.

On the other hand, there is tremendous disagreement as to what is meant by "confidence." Different groups of people, different sections of the country, and different political leaders have entirely opposite views as to what will restore confidence. Both Howard Cooley and Norman Thomas would state that the greatest need of the world is "confidence." Yet, they would absolutely disagree as to what will bring about that confidence.

No One Agrees On Anything

Some people, for instance, want old-age pensions for everybody, while others feel that this would bankrupt us. Some want stricter labor legislation, while others argue for less. Some want more federal money spent for "relief," while others insist that all relief expenditures should come from local "community chests." Some want prices fixed at "cost," while others insist that only free markets for commodities, labor, and enterprise will bring about prosperity. Some hope to see government banks which will give credit to everyone, while others think that the government is already meddling too much with our banking system.

Some want neutrality, while others believe that the United States should come out now and say we will sell England and France all the munitions they want to buy. Some want higher tariffs to protect labor, while others say that lower tariffs would mean greater foreign trade and hence more jobs. Some believe higher income taxes would help business, while others insist that lower income taxes would result in more employment. Some want a bigger army and navy, while others want this money spent on schools, hospitals, and libraries.

Some are urging laws to prevent married women from working, while others believe that wives have a right to a "career."

Congress Pulled and Hauled

Our Congressmen are even more upset than are the people. They are constantly being pulled and hauled. Most of the above mentioned have "associations" with paid secretaries who are in Washington fighting for their "good causes." In order to hold their jobs, each of these secretaries tries to call personally on the largest number of Congressmen and bombard them with the greatest number of letters and telegrams. The whole thing has become a great big racket. Worst of all, our senators and representatives do not have time to study, or even to think. They are harassed day and night by these selfish pressure groups.

This all means that our fundamental difficulty is that we have thrown out of the window the republic which Washington, Madison, and Hamilton founded. As we all know, they set up a government with three distinct branches to check each other. Moreover, the legislative branch was divided into two groups—the

No Sound Reason Why Japan Should Regard Notice of Abrogation of Treaty as an Unfriendly Act
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 28—There is no sound reason, judging from information obtainable here, why Japan should regard the notice of abrogation of the Japanese-American treaty of 1911 as an unfriendly action.

Treaties were intended to be revised when one or the other of the parties found new circumstances requiring reconsideration. But, in this instance, notice of the termination of the treaty six months hence really means that the United States government believes there should be a re-examination of the entire question of treaty relationships in the Far East.

This re-examination has been compelled by the changed relationships as between China and Japan and as between Japan and the other powers of the world. It is not merely the incidents growing out of the hostilities in the Far East in which foreigners have become involved, but the larger question of what America's whole connection with commerce and trade in the Far East shall be in the future.

Historically, the United States has maintained that in China there should be an "open door" commercially. This doctrine was enunciated about 40 years ago by Secretary Hay of the McKinley administration, a Republican regime. In later years, the principle of the "open door" has been repeatedly affirmed by both Democratic and Republican administrations.

Since the American people are anxious to maintain a peaceful relationship with Japan, but cannot view without anxiety a disturbed status of treaty rights in the Far East, the opportunity to forge a new formula for Far Eastern affairs may come out of the treaty discussions. While the United States is disposed to consider this as a matter of consultation with the other members of the so-called nine-power treaty, the initiative is wholly American and whatever is decided upon finally will be wholly American too, without regard to the implications of the question in relation to European rivalries.

Big Trees Need Food Where Roots Can Reach It

The stately old trees that beautify your home would be difficult, and certainly costly, to replace if they should die. Old trees seem so strong and hardy that few of us ever consider their well-being, yet they are subject to disease and the ravages of insects as are all forms of plant life. Trees really don't require very much attention unless decay has already set in. The important thing is to be sure that they are supplied with a sufficiency of all the food elements they require. A well fed tree, like a well fed animal, seldom succumbs to disease.

Supplying your old trees with plenty of all the food elements they require is not at all difficult, for the complete plant food that beautifies your lawn and garden and makes your vegetables tastier, as well as quicker maturing, will also have the desired effect on your old trees.

The process of tree feeding is quite simple. First you determine the amount of complete plant food required by the tree which you are going to feed. To do this measure the diameter of the tree at a point about four feet from the ground. To each inch of diameter allow three pounds of complete plant food. Inasmuch as the main feeding roots of a tree extend out in a circle equivalent to the circle made by the drip of the branches, this is the proper place to apply the plant food. Make a series of holes, two inches in diameter and about 18 inches deep under the drip of the branches in a zigzag fashion. The holes can be made best with a ground auger but a crowbar or other pointed device can be satisfactorily used. Fill the holes half full of the complete plant food and complete filling with soil. That is all there is to tree feeding—really it is easier to do than it is to tell about.

Weeds Rob Moisture and Food

Not only are weeds unsightly in the lawn and garden, at they are very destructive to ornamental vegetation, because their rank growth takes much needed moisture and plant food from the soil. This is particularly important at this season of the year in those parts of the country where the climate in July is normally hot and dry.

So get out in the vegetable and flower garden and use your hoe—you'll not only get some good exercise and get rid of the weeds, but you will create a dust mulch which will be a great aid in conserving the available moisture in the soil.

Barmann Park Is On Wheels Winner For Fifth Season

Yesterday afternoon the representatives of Barmann Park won the "On Wheels Carnival" for the fifth consecutive year with a total of 45 points over their nearest rival Loughran Park, which team amassed a sum of 30 points. Parents Visit Camp Happyland

Parents and friends were guests of the 48 children at Camp Happyland Sunday and a special program of entertainment was given.

Douglas Post was master of ceremonies for the entertainment, which was billed as "Happyland Frolics," and the theme of good health was stressed.

Miss Katherine Murphy, the director, was introduced and carried on a health discussion with the parents, the camp routine and a few days' menus for three meals of upbuilding were given by Miss Murphy.

After the resident nurse, Miss Schneider, and Messrs. Welsner and Reynolds were presented, the youngsters then took their guests on a tour of inspection. Much surprise was noted by parents that little boys could make such a neat bed without help. They were assured it could be done as well as many other things, such as eating every type of vegetable or resting in the afternoon and having a happy and playful time doing it.

Many stories were told of the past activities and then of the coming week's events—Monday, a marshmallow roast and campfire, the hike on Wednesday, a picture for the paper on Thursday and Friday seemed to stand out as a day of real importance for Mr. Van Deusen, the superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday school, where some of the Happyland boys go to church from camp every Sunday, will then show them many magic tricks, while a promise of ice cream for refreshments that night comes from Judge and Mrs. Joseph Fowler.

"Snipe hunting" on Saturday still remains a mystery to some of the boys, while those of more vivid imagination have seen snipe and tell wild stories of how daddy catches it.

Many parents commended the staff on how much could be ac-

Mrs. Bradley, who was thought to have had a possible skull fracture, was reported to be apparently good.

The couple were on their way from Pennsylvania to Scotia, when their car failed to make the sharp turn in the village of Hurley. It grazed a tree and then crashed head-on into another tree, being badly damaged.

The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff McCullough.

Lord Kinross Dies

Edinburgh, Scotland, July 28 (AP)—Lord Kinross, lawyer and banker, died today at the age of 69. His son, John P. D. Balfour, succeeds him as third Baron of Glasglane. Lord Kinross had been sheriff of Dumfries and Galloway since 1927 and a director of the Bank of Scotland.

complished in such a short space of time and were most grateful to the tuberculosis committee who make the health camp possible with Christmas Seals funds.

Fire Ends Berry Season in Area

Ed Davis, who for the past 11 years has camped at the "two mile post," on the old Minnewaska road from Ellenville, buying huckleberries from pickers on the Shawangunk mountains, in that section, is through for this year, although normally he would remain at the camp until September.

He says that huckleberry picking in that entire section of the mountain, running along the mountain for several miles and up to the top, is done for the year as a result of the fire the past week. This is the best part of the berry section, especially because of its accessibility. Davis said that possibly further east along the mountain, in the neighborhood of the five-mile post, there might be berries, while on over the ridge toward the Wallkill valley side, where the fire had not reached, berries presumably could be found.

Davis had been at his camp since June 27 and remained until the fire burned around him. He lost some crates and boxes, but the camp was covered with tin and goods inside were not burned.

Picking this year has not been good, largely due to the drought, Davis says. The 36 pickers, from New York, New Jersey and other points, including a few local pickers, have been averaging around six to 12 quarts a day, he stated, whereas in 1937, when picking was good, the men would bring in from 18 to 28 quarts.

Davis said that his highest single days receipts were 162 quarts and for two days 308 quarts. Two years ago he left the camp on a Sunday night with 37 crates of berries. This represented 1184 quarts for the two days, Saturday and Sunday. At the time of the outbreak of the fire at the berry pickers were being paid 15 1/2 cents a quart for their berries. Two years ago the early season price was 18 cents a quart and later it dropped to ten cents.

Davis doubted if the berries would be a good crop next summer, in the burned-over territory, due to the lateness of the fire, but in any event, barring early severe dry weather a bumper crop could be expected in the summer of 1941.

Two Youths Held For Grand Jury

Harry Fey, 21, who gave his address as 7 Syme street, Sharon, Pa., and William Moran, 18, 268 East 31st street, Brooklyn, the two youths who are charged with having taken a car belonging to Charles Schroeder of Whiteport, early yesterday morning, and who later returned to the Schroeder place and were taken into custody by the sheriff's office, were arraigned before Justice Clyde L. Baxter yesterday. They were charged with grand larceny in the second degree and the justice committed them to the county jail to await the action of the grand jury.

After running the Schroeder car into a tree at Greenkill avenue and Fair street, the two appropriated a car belonging to Charles Boice of Sawkill, which had been left standing near North Front street. They got as far as Ireland Corners with the Boice car when it stopped and they abandoned it and returned to the Schroeder place.

Non-Union Angle

It is claimed that the firm is not a union organization and the activities are being directed against the firm to compel union recognition. A few local men have been employed by the concern locally and they report the wages paid are the going wage for this locality and in some cases above the average wage paid here.

There was difficulty in ascertaining whether men employed on the job belonged to any union, some said they had union cards while others denied that fact.

Tuesday there arose a dispute on the job when it is said agitators appeared on the scene and threatened to tie up the job. The firm has been engaged in work in this locality since about July first.

According to information given the state troopers the activities of the union are being directed against the firm and not against the men who are working on the job the aim being to force the firm to become associated with the union.

It was reported that the majority of the men employed on the job came from the vicinity of Buffalo.

British Cruise

London, July 28 (AP)—Britain's home fleet, backbone of her navy, will begin a cruise July 31 but the admiralty is keeping the itinerary secret.

Non-Union Angle

It is claimed that the firm is not a union organization and the activities are being directed against the firm to compel union recognition. A few local men have been employed by the concern locally and they report the wages paid are the going wage for this locality and in some cases above the average wage paid here.

There was difficulty in ascertaining whether men employed on the job belonged to any union, some said they had union cards while others denied that fact.

Tuesday there arose a dispute on the job when it is said agitators appeared on the scene and threatened to tie up the job. The firm has been engaged in work in this locality since about July first.

According to information given the state troopers the activities of the union are being directed against the firm and not against the men who are working on the job the aim being to force the firm to become associated with the union.

It was reported that the majority of the men employed on the job came from the vicinity of Buffalo.

Where Mountain Sends Forth Plentiful Supply

In the midst of a drouth such as Ulster county has not experienced in many years attention was directed to a source of water supply which has been all but forgotten since it was first discovered by a white man more than two centuries ago.

A spring bubbling out of Dycobar Mountain, which is back of Kethonskon between the Catskills and Shawangunks has effused thousands of gallons of water since its beginning and most of this rippled down the mountainside to waste somewhere in the woodlands.

The spring is on the old Philip Osterhoudt farm now owned by Nora Hackett, of this city, who with P. J. Thorp, formerly of the Maple Leaf Products store on route 9-W, decided to bottle the water for sale.

A small storage reservoir was built about 100 feet below the spring and a pipe line laid to it. The water is run from this into five-gallon bottles and hauled to market for sale. It is meant principally for drinking purposes and is bottled freshly each day.

The farm on which the spring has been running for centuries, was first settled by Philip Osterhoudt in 1672.

'Room Service' Well Presented To Big Audience

Woodstock, July 28—The largest "opening night" crowd of the season turned out last evening at the Woodstock Playhouse for "Room Service," a light comedy by John Murray and Allen Boretz. The play continues through to Sunday night.

Audience reaction indicated that the play was the most entertaining given to date by the Elwyn group and the "team-work" of the cast appeared also to be the best so far this season.

Paul Hammond, Don McHenry and Richard Edward Bowler carry off the honors for the bigger parts and Leo Herbert, a Kingston boy, who has been with the players as scenic artist, proved a hit with a brief exhibition of stammering. Jean Barrere is also again at his best in a major part and provided many of the laughs in the show. The play is one of those "situation" comedies with a laugh lurking behind every second line and each important build-up of the action. Everything takes place in a hotel room where ambitious producers and a naive author fight against eviction and starvation pending a deal with a backer.

Paul Hammond and Don McHenry, the live-wire producers, keep things moving at a lively pace and Jean Barrere is their guinea pig for a variety of experiments as the unsuspecting author. Richard Edward Bowler is the cussing hotel manager who stays hot under the collar for two acts and a part of the third. His acting does much to help along the comedy and he carried on nobly last evening despite a noticeable throat ailment. The cast took several curtain calls at the finish.

If all the 4-H Club members in the United States were to march single file, all in one long line, that line would be more than 700 miles long.

Heavy Rains Put Temporary Check on County Drouth

ation on the reservoir which pulled the village. Pumping operations have been going on for several days with water being supplied to the village from the Rondout. Since pumping was completed the village has had ample water. Prior to starting the pumps the village supply was cut off during the night. Frank Schonger at Kerhonkson said the rain was still falling this morning and the several showers which had visited the area had relieved the serious situation which had existed. The rainfall was of sufficient amount to give considerable aid to crops.

Woods Well Damaged

From the Gallis Hill fire tower, Observer Merritt reported the woods well wet down and danger of fire past for the present. He said the rain had not penetrated the deep dry leaves to the earth in many places but there had been sufficient rain in the territory to extinguish danger of fire for the present. With the extinguishing of forest fires in this area the smoke which has made visibility poor for several days has cleared. At Gallis Hill visibility was reported at from 8 to 10 miles this morning.

In the Catskill mountain area through Denning and Shandaken there were numerous showers but their effect was not noticeable on water systems. At Prattville during the past 24 hours until 8 o'clock this morning .27 inches of rain fell at the New York city waterworks gauges but it had no effect on the Glibou reservoir.

At Glibou reservoir there are about a billion gallons of water in storage and this leaves about eight feet of water available above the outlet sill. The village of Glibou which stood on the site of the dam is partially out of water. Main street to the southeast is visible but the major portion of the village never can appear above the water since the outlet to the Shandaken tunnel is many feet above the lowest point in the reservoir and the main portion of old Glibou lies at the foot of the dam in the deepest water. A very small amount of water is being sent to the Ashokan through Shandaken tunnel. At the Ashokan headworks .06 of an inch of rain fell during the 24 hours up until 8 o'clock Thursday morning until 8 o'clock this morning .72 inches of rain was recorded. Although about three quarters of an inch of rain fell during the last 24 hours it had no effect on the Ashokan.

Good Supply at Ashokan The Ashokan reservoir has a good supply of water. There are still 107,000,000 gallons of water in the Ashokan and 600,000,000 are being sent each 24 hours to New York. Even though no rain fell for nearly six months the Ashokan reservoir could continue to supply its complement of water to New York city faucets from its present storage.

On July 28, 1936, the Ashokan reservoir had almost exactly the same storage as now. Three years ago there were 108,966,000,000 gallons in storage. Before the Glibou project was completed the Ashokan reservoir was extremely low. In 1923 the Ashokan reached a very low level. The Shandaken tunnel was turned on in 1928. An extreme low level was reached in the Ashokan reservoir during the winter of 1930-1931 when the reservoir dropped to 16,000,000,000 gallons, an all time low.

Forecast for more showers today by the weather bureau were borne out this morning when Kingston and the surrounding area was visited by a heavy down-pour followed by lighter rains during the morning.

At Poughkeepsie the rainfall yesterday was .55 and in Wappingers Falls .46.

Republicans Hold Convention at 11 Saturday Morning

The Republican county convention will be held at the Municipal Auditorium on Broadway Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at which time the party choice for county clerk and district attorney will be made. In addition there will be named seven delegates and seven alternate delegates to the Republican judicial convention for the Third Judicial District and two members to the Republican County Central Committee from each district. Senator Joe Hanley of Wyoming will be the speaker at the convention.

It will cost $17,500,000 to relocate a railroad whose tracks will be flooded by the new Shasta dam in California.

Prices Advanced In Late Trading

As in the previous day's trading, stocks on the New York Exchange prices advanced during late trading, which was at accelerated pace, with industrials and rails showing net gains for the day, while the utilities closed unchanged at 26.50 in the Dow Jones averages. The industrials advanced 0.69 point, to 144.51 and rails were ahead 0.13 point, to 30.00. Volume was below Wednesday, total being 820,000 shares.

The London market was firm with increased turnover and both industrial and rail averages closed higher. The Paris market was more active on expectations of early approval of pact with Soviet Russia. Amsterdam market was irregular.

A Department of Commerce report on income to individuals for June shows the sharpest gain since the spring of 1937. Higher level of operations in the blumianous coal fields, following labor troubles, accounted for much of the rise in June, all major industrial groups shared in the advance according to the department's report. Total income payment during the first half of this year were at the rate of $66,000,000,000 annually, as compared with a total of $64,200,000,000 in 1938.

With a sharp drop in grain movement and some decline in miscellaneous freight movement last week, carloadings dropped 17,472 cars, total for the week being 656,341.

If the anticipated rise in traffic materializes Class I railroads are expected to net profit for each month during the balance of the year. Last year, by sharply curtailing expenses, the roads got into black in August. For the first half of this year the roads showed an average of about one million dollars a day in recent months.

In announcing resumption of dividend payments yesterday, when 50 cents was declared on common, President Grace of Bethlehem Steel disclosed that income for the June quarter was $3,822,927, or 61 cents a share, comparing with $2,409,059 in the first three months and $150,305 in the like 1938 period. He added that Bethlehem's automobile customers had been covered on sheet requirements through the end of 1939 at the May margin prices, which were $8 to $8 a ton under the posted prices.

Curtiss-Wright Corp. had net of $1,672,647 for the three months ended June 30, equal after dividends on Class A stock to 14 cents a share on common.

American Radiator shows net of $940,650 for six months to June 30. In first half of 1938 had loss of $800,700. Pittsburgh Coal had consolidated net loss of $929,090 in June quarter, vs. loss of $1,214,884 in the 1938 quarter. Seiberling Rubber's net for eight months ended June 30 was $591,705, before federal income taxes, vs. $33,600 in the same period in 1938.

Marshall Field & Co. report net of $807,051 for the second quarter of this year, compared with net of $221,586 in the second quarter of 1938.

Baldwin Locomotive and subsidiaries reports net loss of $1,988,666 for 12 months ended June 30. Compares with net income of $64,060 in the preceding 12 months. Continental Oil had net of $1,815,856 in the June quarter, vs. net of $1,281,510 in the same quarter last year.

Thirty thousand craters are visible on the moon.

New York, July 28 (AP).—While the stock market lacked fighting spirit today, an early mild downward drift was halted as the session drew to a close and initial fractional declines were erased in many cases.

Dealings were sluggish from the start, with transfers for the five hours at the rate of approximately 750,000 shares. Price changes were small either way near the final period.

Further guessing as to just how abrogation of the U. S.-Japanese commercial treaty would affect domestic trade inspired some speculative and investment hesitancy, brokers suggested.

At the same time, better than expected profits figures of the big steel and motor corporations, in addition to the still hopeful business outlook elsewhere, helped bolster financial sentiment.

Foreign markets were barely steady. Bonds and commodities gave a slightly uneven performance.

Up moderately at one time or another were General Motors, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, Glenn Martin, American Telephone, Public Service of N. Y., Santa Fe, Safeway Stores, Celanese and American Can.

Inclined to hang back were Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, International Harvester, Westinghouse, Great Northern, General Electric, Goodyear, Consolidated Edison, Loft and Standard Oil of N. J.

A shade off in the curb were Electric Bond and Share, Gulf Oil, Lockhead and Niagara Hudson Power.

Boiceville and Joneses Clash in League Contest

Jones Dairy and Boiceville clash in a significant City League contest at the Athletic Field today at 6:30. The epochal game winds up athletic activities at the Cornell street diamond in compliance with orders issued by the Cornell estate yesterday.

Following the Jones-Boiceville clash, the Athletic Field will be closed to further league games. League officials are expected to take action immediately to map out the future plans for the league.

The contest itself affords Joneses a chance to strengthen their drive for the second half title. Given a big break when the Independents forfeited to Boiceville, the Dairy men are likely to make the most of the break.

Joneses are tied with the Independents in the lost column, each having dropped a set, and will send George Celuch to the mound in an effort to protect their standing.

Seluch has pitched some of the finest ball in the league, turning back Grunenwalds with three hits in his last outing.

Lou Knapp has Art Dlouhy and Red Lane to throw at George Zano's crew. Dlouhy may get the call on the strength of his classy relief pitching in Tuesday's game with the Independents. Dlouhy fanned six men in the last two innings.

More Pheasants For Katrine Club

At the meeting of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club Thursday night, it was voted to buy more pheasants to be distributed Saturday. The club will let out 105 10-week old birds. Any member interested in assisting in the distribution of these birds should be at Montovani's farm by 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The majority of these birds will be received from the Ulster County Fish and Game Association.

Members are requested to have their tickets for the gun shoot in Sunday. This shoot takes place at Montovani's farm, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Tickets are now being purchased at A. Race's gas station at the corner Henry street and Broadway.

Police Win Shoot At Perth Amboy

Perth Amboy, N. J., July 28 (AP)—Neptune township police, shooting in the Class A open event, won the major prize among 33 teams competing today at a pistol shoot sponsored by the Perth Amboy News and the local police department.

The Neptune marksmen scored 465 points out of a possible 1,500 win by a single point. The Low-Merion (Pa.) police finished second with 1,464 and the New Jersey State Police, third with 1,463. In Class B competition, Clifton police defeated the Westchester county (N. Y.) team to win first place, each having scored 1,437. Third place went to the team from the New Jersey Reformatory at Rahway, with 1,433.

Cleveland Canoeists At Rondout Yacht Club

The Rondout Yacht Club entertained two interesting visitors Wednesday evening, when two canoeists from Cleveland, O., who had made a trip to the World's Fair, dropped in for a rest. The young navigators had many interesting tales to relate which included their appearance on the Major Bowes program and the sights at the fair. The boys had a long and arduous journey paddling over Lake Erie and Lake Ontario and then down the Hudson.

On the return trip up the Hudson the boys reported making good time, leaving New York Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and arriving here at about 9 o'clock Wednesday. After a very pleasant visit, they set off in their canoe continuing their trip back to Cleveland.

Tiano and Neff in the .400 Hitting Class for Colonials

When the powerful New York police baseball club appears at the new municipal stadium tomorrow afternoon in the second half of the twin bill they will find a group of Colonial sluggers led by Mac Tiano, Charlie Lay, Charlie Neff, Jerry Gallagher and Tommy DuBois. Tiano tops all of them with a cool .400 average. C. Neff also has attained that mark but hasn't visited the pay-off plate as many times as has the dangerous Tiano.

Last week Tommy DuBois, another swinger of the bludgeon, was the top batter in the averages but with the latest figures compiled, DuBois has dropped to .317. One of the men who has increased his mark considerably is Charlie Lay. Lay is now batting .380, which is good enough for any league. Tomorrow afternoon the Colonials will mix it up with the New York police team in the stadium's dedication attraction. Previous to this game the police aggregation of Newburgh and Kingston will come together again. On Sunday afternoon the Davemen will resume their league warfare when the Schenectady General Electric will appear for the first time at the new stadium.

Following are the averages as compiled by Irwin Thomas, the Colonial secretary:

	AB	R	H	Pct
T. Tiano	30	7	12	.400
C. Neff	20	1	8	.400
Lay	21	3	8	.380

DuBois	34	5	11	.317
Benjamin	23	4	7	.304

They Did It Last Summer

This is the combination that figured out the play which beat the Newburgh police here last summer, giving the Kingston Blue Coats an 8-6 verdict. The quartet, photoed at the banquet after the game, is composed of William "Moll" Leonard, Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick, and Patrolmen Lenville Relyea and Fred Stoudt. Stoudt, on the judge's suggestion, pitched a "ball" to Catcher Relyea, who tossed to Leonard on second to catch Weller for the final out as a tie loomed. Freddie Stoudt won't be out of the hospital for that game with Newburgh tomorrow at the new municipal stadium, but Relyea and Leonard will be in the Kingston lineup, and Judge Schirick will be on the job, helping Lieut. James V. Simpson direct his team from the bench.

Benoit Best Shot, Club Burglarized

When Ulster County Gun Club members went to the club range Thursday for the regular bi-monthly shoot they found that a thief had been at work. Rookies Talk It Over!

Fred Fatum, former Kingston High School pitcher, now pounding a beat for the local police department, and Bill Messing, popular City League catcher, talk things over at one of the workouts held by Lieut. James V. Simpson's Kingston Coppers in preparation for tomorrow's game with Newburgh at the new municipal stadium, uptown. Fatum, left, is scheduled to start on the mound for the Kingston Bluecoats, with Len Relyea, veteran police catcher as his battery mate. Messing probably will get into the lineup in an outfield position. Fatum and Messing are rookies cops, having been sworn in as special officers prior to the heavy summer schedule requiring extra patrolmen. Starting time of the Kingston-Newburgh game is 2 o'clock. The New York Cops and Kingston Colonials will go into action for the second feature of the double-header immediately after. Dedication ceremonies for the new stadium will intersperse the games, with Mayor C. J. Heiselman and Lester Herzog, state administrator of the WPA, taking part.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

(By The Associated Press)

When all those scientists get through looking at Mars, they might be able to pick up a little extra cash by renting their telescopes to the National League.

There is a well-founded suspicion the rest of the league is about as close as it will get to the Cincinnati Reds. It may take a powerful lens to locate them from now on.

That is the consensus after yesterday's double triumph in which the Reds had the benefit of some of Paul Derringer's best pitching in the first game and some smart hitting in the second to down the always-tough Boston Bees, who have been playing almost .600 ball the last month.

The league leaders won 6-1 behind Derringer's eight hit hurling but they had to go 11 innings in the afterpiece before Frenchy Bordagaray's timely single scored the winning run and gave them a 9-8 edge.

Although Lee Grissom was something less than a ball of fire in the second game, the fact remains the Reds won when three of their closest pursuers—the Pittsburgh Pirates, St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs—all are shouting lustily, "we ain't concedin' 'em nothin'!"

And those three are not giving up for very good reasons. The renaissance of Dizzy Dean has given the Cubs pennant visions again, the work of Tom Sunkel has had a vitalizing effect on the Cards, and the Pirates are in the midst of a winning streak of which any club could be proud.

Padgett Did It

The Cards kept up their winning ways at the expense of the New York Giants with a 9-4 victory built around what must be every pinch hitter's dream—a homer with the bases loaded. Don Padgett did it in the seventh, and just when it looked as if the Giants might actually win a game.

The Cubs made their 48th victory of the year look easy as Big Bill Lee stopped the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3-1, with a five-hit effort for his 11th of the season. That left only the Pirates of the three pretenders to the Reds' throne in yesterday's losers' group. The Bucks took one on the chin from the Phillies, 9-8, in spite of a seven-run spurge in the sixth inning.

However, the Pirates made off with three of the four games of the series.

Chisox Win

In the American League the Chicago White Sox, who have ploughed a rough row the last few days—meeting Boston in Chicago and then moving east for a series with the Yankees and the Red Sox again—tramped on the Bostonians by 12-7 as the veteran Clint Brown made his 39th relief appearance of the year and won his eighth victory. He pitched hitless ball after relieving Johnny Marcum in the sixth.

The Tigers called on Paul Trout and he called on his high hand one to make the Washington Senators call for help. The Detroiters won, 8-1, as Trout was turning in a five-hit job. And that was especially good since the Tigers were clawing Walter Master-ton for seven runs in 2 2/3 innings.

The Yankee-St. Louis Browns and the Indians-Athletics games were rained out.

THE STANDINGS

Frisco Policeman Has Big Following In Golf Tourney

Baltimore, July 28 (AP)—Though Art Armstrong of Honolulu is the people's choice and the biggest drawing card, there was a growing contingent among those attending the 18th national public links golf championship today that was counting on seeing San Francisco's Jim Molinari in the title round and quite possibly the winner of the championship Standish Cup.

For a competitor in the next-to-last round of a major tournament, Molinari, who is 34 years old, partially bald and rides a radio patrol car for the San Francisco police force, is as unorthodox a golfer as you're likely to find.

He's a strapping six-footer, with a physique that should come in handy when there's a riot that needs quelling. Yet when he makes a golf shot, whether it's a drive, an iron or a putt, he doubles up over his club like a man suddenly taken with a severe case of stomach cramps.

His Own Style

This is Molinari's own idea. A few years back, about the time he was winning the medal in the 1936 public links at Farmingdale, N. Y., he used longer-shafted clubs and got more distance, but he also scattered too many tee shots and approaches into traps and other uninviting bits of golf course architecture.

So Big Jim got himself a set of clubs with shorter shafts, and insists his game's improved since then. Today he was a semi-finalist against 22-year-old Phil Gordon, a neighbor from Oakland, Calif.

In Gordon, Molinari is taking on the only one of the surviving four whose presence in this round is contrary to pre-tournament calculations. The young insurance man qualified with a score of 151, about in the middle of the field and considerably less than startling, but the way he has played through four 18-hole matches made him a potential tough nut for the California night-stick to crack.

In the other semi-final, the rivals were two golfers of proved ability—Armstrong, who has monopolized the galleries since his first appearance on the course, and Andy Sewdick, the Pittsburgh steel worker who is a good enough golfer to have qualified for the last two national open championships.

Boston Irishman Tough Opponent For Local Pride

Greb, Robinson in Other Eight-Rounder Are Heavy Punchers—Local Scrappers Ready for Real Tests

Tonight's fights at the municipal auditorium should furnish the fans with plenty of action, according to no less an authority than Ray Arce, famous trainer of fighters who made over Tommy Zano, one of the featured battlers, and Vinny Vines, rated as one of the coming welterweights.

Yesterday at Stillman's gym in New York, Arce, prior to leaving for the west, said, "That Kingston card looks like a real good show, and the fans can count on some real tough opposition for Tommy Zano when he steps into the ring with Irish Johnny Smith of Boston."

Smith is one of the battlers the New Yorkers with a reputation like to avoid, because he's a tough puncher. "This Irishman is one of the best punchers in the welter ranks," said Arce, "and the fact that he's matched with Zano proves the Kingston boy is not getting set-ups in his home town."

The well known trainer, recently featured as the ace of them all in a popular magazine, said he'd like to be at the ringside. "I wish I could second Zano for this one," he informed a local reporter, "but I'll have to be satisfied with giving him instructions as a pre-fight warning on account of my western trip."

Al Raimo, Arce's associate in handling about 100 fighters, probably will be in Zano's corner, and also will handle several of the other metropolitan battlers on tonight's bill.

The other eight rounder, sharing the spotlight with the Zano-Smith duel is that between Tony Greb, the scrapper who almost knocked out Vinny Vines of New York, the Joe Louis of the welterweights. This match is expected to "steal the show."

Marty Servo, paired with Lloyd Lasky, sensational Jewish fighter from New York's east side, may not be able to keep his engagement. Charlie Goldman, who handles him for Al Weill, said yesterday, "Servo has been nursing a bad hand and may have to forego his Kingston trip, but he won't if the doctor gives his okay."

In case Servo don't fight, Julio Jimenez, the Mexican boy who fought 12 main bouts in Florida last winter, will take his place with Lasky. Both are the type that bore in at all time and this match should contain all of the action expected from the original bout, and maybe more.

The three boxers from this vicinity, Pete Cappy and Jess Caprotti of Kingston, and Joey LaGuardia of Highland are ready for their four round skirmishes and promise lots of mixing when they climb between the ropes. The entire card, scheduled for start at 8:45 o'clock, is as follows:

Eight Rounds
Tommy Zano, Glasco, vs. Irish Johnny Smith, Boston.
Tony Greb, New York, vs. Ernie "Cat" Robinson, "the Joe Louis of the welterweights," New York.

Six Rounds
Marty Servo, Schenectady, or Julio Jimenez, Mexico, vs. Lloyd Lasky, hard hitting Jewish idol of New York's East Side.

Four Rounds
Pete Cappy, Kingston, vs. Frankie Raio, Texas.
Jess Caprotti, Kingston, vs. Charlie Roberts, Jersey City.
Paul Trinkle, Brooklyn, vs. Joey LaGuardia, Highland.

Portland, Me.—Paul Junior, Lewiston, Me., 1394, defeated Bernie Miller, New York, 136, (10).

Marriage Voided
By Court Order

A dissolution of the marriage of Alice Smith to Harold Smith has been granted on order of Justice Harry E. Scherick. Mrs. Smith, who appeared by Morris Rosenblum, lived at 15 Robinson street, Saugerties, and sought the dissolution on the grounds her husband had absented himself from home for over five years and at the present time she believes him to be dead.

Married in January 1922 at Syracuse, Mrs. Smith resided for a time and moved to Watertown. In 1923 Mr. and Mrs. Smith were planning a week-end trip. She left her home and expected to meet her husband after work to make the trip. He never returned home and she had never been able to locate him since.

TB Patients See
Talking Picture

The project, undertaken by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, to bring movies to patients at the hospital, has been achieved. The first talkies were given last night in the big auditorium on the lower floor of the hospital and were greatly enjoyed by all patients who were well enough to go down. The feature picture was "East Pits" in "The Affairs of Susan" and was shown with an educational film and a cartoon.

These talkies will be given twice a month and mean much to the patients who find time hanging heavy in their fight against tuberculosis and in their recuperative hours.

The auxiliary is most appreciative of the result of its appeal for money to aid in purchasing the projection machinery. Any who still desire to contribute to the movie fund may do so, and all such contributions may be sent to Mrs. Frederic W. Holcomb, president of the Tuberculosis Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary, 188 Fair street, this city.

War Against Rats

Las Animas, Colo., July 28 (AP)—Along a battlefield of southeast Colorado sand dunes, the United States Army is waging a war against rats. Upon the army's success hinges speedy construction of the $14,500,000 Caddo dam for irrigation in Colorado and Kansas. The chief enemies are kangaroo rats which jump and have long tails, and sand rats, a species of hairless gopher. Army engineers assigned by Congress to build the dam, were confident today of eventual victory. "We've poisoned thousands," said C. L. Etter of the soil conservation service.

Mars Turns Cold
Shoulder to Earth

New York, July 28 (AP)—Mars turned a cold shoulder to earth's swing music last night and just as frigidly ignored a radio message that sped out into space at a 186,000-mile-a-second clip in an effort to bridge a little matter of 36,000,000 miles.

Engineers and scientists tried the code message to Mars first—a Morse signal, dash-dot, dash-dot, dash-dot — meaning NNN — and when no "answer" came, they tried to warm things up with a broadcast to the big, red planet to American swing. That didn't penetrate, either.

So the engineers turned off their 100,000 watt beam shooting from the plant of Press Wireless, Inc., at Baldwin, and called it a night. They had hoped the signal might bounce back in six minutes and 28 seconds and be picked up by a receiver at Hicksville, N. Y.

With the planet closest to earth in 15 years, the New York World's Fair management announced it would stage a "defense" against a mythical attack of Martians. The fountain lake area was to have been "blacked out" while anti-aircraft guns blazed away at planes overhead.

That didn't work, either. The amusement concessionaires refused to douse their lights, explaining they hadn't been notified of the stunt.

Earth shocks in faraway Mendoza, Argentina were blamed on the proximity of the planet by panic-stricken natives.

But in many places throughout the world students and scientists gathered to study the phenomena not only last night but on succeeding nights, until the sphere slowly recedes into the farther reaches of space.

Neighbor Trouble
Is Aired in Court

Mrs. Mary M. Dams of Washington avenue was arraigned before Judge Mino in police court this morning on a warrant sworn out by Rubelle Wilklow, who resides in the same house, charged Mrs. Dams with assault in the third degree.

Following a hearing Judge Mino discharged Mrs. Dams, holding that there was not sufficient evidence produced to convict. In discharging Mrs. Dams he warned that any neighborhood bickerings that have existed in the past should cease.

Miss Wilklow alleged that Mrs. Dams struck her in the face, which was denied by Mrs. Dams. The alleged assault was not witnessed by any of the neighbors.

Peter Weber, 32, of 787 Broadway, Newburgh, was arrested Thursday afternoon on a warrant sworn out by Ralph Hayner, who charged Weber with assault in the third degree. He claimed that Weber had struck him on the jaw with his fist, rendering him unconscious while they were at Terry's brickyard. The hearing in police court was set down for Monday morning.

Poor Speech Can Be
A Barrier to Friends

Check Up on Careless Errors

A little tragedy-comedy you often see: A young man with an attractive looking girl—but he evades introducing her to his friends.

The reason often is—her English! Will his friends know what a nice girl she really is when they hear her "It's KIND OF hot, I wish I HAD HAVE known."

For even our little mistakes stand out to cultured ears. Though most of us would say correctly "FATHER hot," "If I HAD known," there are sure to be noticed errors in our speech—a careless BOTH ALIKE, REPEAT AGAIN. To be above criticism we should drop unnecessary words, say ALIKE, REPEAT.

Another speech fault is the constant use of such expressions as "humdinger" and "swell"—a sign of a meager vocabulary! Learn graphic new ways to say things—breath-taking vermilion sunset." Your pronunciation too—do you say AD-dress for ad-RESS, gan-you-Wine for GEN-uine?

Check up on your speech—banish careless habits. Our 32-page booklet gives vocabulary errors to avoid, also the correct forms. Lists objectionable slang expressions, words often misused, and helps you build a richer vocabulary!

Send 10c in coin for your copy of HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR VOCABULARY to KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

A new bridge at Seattle, with a main stretch more than a mile in length, will be supported by floating pontoons.

Dr. W. J. Mayo Dies at Rochester

who stood across an operating table from "Dr. Will" for a quarter of a century and was called by him "easily the first" of all his "splendid assistants," died here. On May 27, "Dr. Charlie" died in Chicago from pneumonia even while "Dr. Will" was apparently recuperating from his operation.

Elder of Brothers

Dr. William James Mayo was the elder of the world-famous Mayo brothers whose surgical skill and passion for research made Rochester, a city of 25,000 in southern Minnesota, a Mecca alike for the ailing and for knowledge-seeking surgeons from all sections of the globe.

Sons of an English-born country doctor who settled in the valley of the Minnesota river in 1855 and combined farming with medical work, when he wasn't fighting Indians, the brothers followed their bent for medical and surgical science, acquired insatiable thirsts for knowledge and developed deep feelings of responsibility for ailing humanity.

Working in partnership when they took over their father's practice, they early began setting aside part of their earnings and out of this fund grew two enormous projects, the Mayo Clinic and the Mayo Foundation for Medical Education and Research.

The one cured the ills of hundreds of thousands of patients. The other gave younger men and women technique and knowledge which was spread over the world as the Rochester-trained medics scattered to practice.

Also Rochester itself was transformed from a country village in the heart of a rich dairy district, into a medical center of capacious hospitals, research laboratories, administrative buildings and hotels which handled upwards of 250,000 transients a year, fully a third of them patients.

Specialized on Cancer

The brothers made themselves world-renowned as surgeons by constant study at home and abroad and by natural aptitude for their work. Each was noted for his ability to operate in almost every field but each too had his specialty. While his younger brother preferred to work on eye, ear, nose and throat, the chief interest of "Dr. Will" was surgery of the abdomen.

He was credited with valuable contributions to surgery of the stomach and duodenum, particularly in cases of ulcer of these regions. His greatest additions to his science, however, were in the treatment of cancer of the stomach which was used in thousands of operations at the clinic and brought a creditable number of cures.

William James Mayo was born in LeSueur, Minn., June 29, 1861. When he was two years old the family moved to Rochester where the father, Dr. William Worrall Mayo, became provost surgeon for southern Minnesota recruiting stations of the federal army. A daughter, Gertrude, and the second son, Charles Horace, were born in Rochester.

It was the habit of the senior brother to take his sons on his rounds of visit to the sick to "mind the horse" and assist in emergencies and "Dr. Will" thus got his first taste of medical work while still in knee pants.

In boyhood, too, he showed an interest in chemistry and learned to compound prescriptions in a Rochester drug store where, in vacation seasons and after school hours, he worked as a clerk.

Will Mayo was graduated from Rochester High School when he was 16 and was then eligible to enter medical school, but his father thought he needed better preparation in science and languages and he spent three years on those subjects, one at a private school and two more at Niles Academy. In 1880 he entered the medical school of the University of Michigan and was graduated M. D. in 1883.

He practiced with his father but the "old doctor" encouraged him to further study. In 1884 he spent two months at the New York Postgraduate Medical School and in 1885 took a course at the New York Polytechnic.

Patients Numbered in Thousands

When his brother, "Dr. Charlie," joined the family practice in 1888, they started the custom of alternate week-ends at the clinics of Chicago and ultimately extended their knowledge seeking excursions to Europe. All the time they were working as the right-hand men of their father in conducting St. Mary's Hospital, a small institution which "the old doctor" had established in Rochester. Eventually their skill became noised abroad and patients flocked to them.

St. Mary's thus became the nucleus of the Mayo Clinic and the Mayo Foundation. The clinic was organized in 1912 and was designed to accommodate 14,000 patients a year. But there were 25,000 in 1913 and by 1938 the list had grown to 80,000. The foundation was endowed with $1,500,000 in 1915 and $500,000 was added in 1935. To insure the perpetuity of these institutions the brothers incorporated the Mayo Properties Association in 1919 as a holding company for the clinic while the foundation was affiliated with the University of Minnesota.

Always working together, the brothers went into army medical service in the World War. "Dr. Will" had held a commission as lieutenant in the medical reserve corps since 1912. He was made a major in 1917 and colonel in the medical corps of the national army July 15, 1918. One or the other brother was in the surgeon general's office in Washington all the time that America was fighting. Alternating duty was at Rochester where hundreds of army and navy surgeons were trained.

After the war the brothers were awarded distinguished service medals and commissions as brigadier generals in the medical reserve.

"Dr. Will" was married November 20, 1884, to Hattie May Damon of Rochester. Two daughters were born to them and became the wives of physicians.

Lewis Stirs Up Storm at Capital

Garner Attack Improves Chances for Revision of Wage-Hour Bill

Washington, July 28 (AP)—John L. Lewis' denunciation of Vice President Garner stirred up such a congressional tempest today that some legislators said it had improved chances for revision of the wage-hour law at this session.

Lewis was demanding that Congress make no change in the law when he told the House labor committee yesterday that the 70-year-old Vice President is a "labor-baiting, poker-playing, whiskey-drinking evil old man."

Ignoring the CIO leader's opposition to any wage-hour alterations—a stand in which the AFL joined—the labor committee agreed after a tempestuous closed meeting to try to bring so-called "non-controversial" amendments to the House floor next Monday.

Three Proposals

A short time later, the rules committee decided to send to the floor three separate proposals for changing the law and let the chamber take its pick. A tangled parliamentary situation was certain to develop.

Lewis sharply accused Garner of responsibility for what he called the "campaign against labor" in the House, and said:

"I am against him in 1939 and I will be against him in 1940 when he seeks the presidency of the United States."

Friends Are Angered

Angered and astounded friends of the Texan rallied to his support in both the Senate and House. Several of them quickly predicted that Lewis' outburst would help Garner politically.

"It will be worth millions of votes to the Vice President if he is a candidate for office in 1940," asserted Senator Burke (D., Neb.).

"It should assure his election," Garner declined to comment on Lewis' attack. When friends wanted to reply on the Senate floor, he was reported to have requested them not to do so. Senator Shepard (D., Tex.) told reporters:

"I have no knowledge as to what Mr. Garner has done or not done as to labor legislation, but I do know that Mr. Lewis is entirely under misapprehension as to Mr. Garner's personal habits."

The House gave Garner a tumultuous ovation late yesterday when the Texas delegation formally expressed its "deep resentment and indignation at this unwarranted and unjustified attack."

Tokyo Suggests Treaty Abrogation

However, the foreign office spokesman said that American recognition of the changed situation in East Asia (Japan's partial conquest of China) would not be a condition for signing a new treaty.

Concern apparent in official quarters over termination of the accord caused observers to believe Tokyo fears the action may lead

One Killed, 14 Hurt

Altoona, Pa., July 28 (AP)—Driver Robert Robinson said an attempt to avoid a car that cut in ahead of him caused his Greyhound bus to skid on a slippery highway and crash into a railroad underpass, killing one of 37 passengers returning home from the New York World's Fair and injuring 14 others. Ray Kelly, 50-year-old steel company employee of Oakmont, near Pittsburgh, died several hours after the accident late yesterday from shock and undetermined injuries.
